Description

"David's biography occupies more room in the Bible (60 chapters) than of any other man except that of the Lord Jesus (the 89 chapters of the gospels). Also about half the Psalms are ascribed to his authorship. David's example is constantly mentioned, especially in comparison with the kings after him. In the New Testament he is quoted fifty-eight times, an evident proof of the importance attached by divine revelation to this man of faith.

About the Author

Is it possible to combine a fruitful Christian life with a successful business career? Some people would say no, but the life of George Andre speaks a resounding "yes". For many years, Mr. Andre has been the top executive for an important international company. However, his first love has been to serve the Lord Jesus Christ. While principally involved in Bible camp work in his native country for a number of years, he has maintained a keen interest and involvement in the work of the Lord worldwide.
