Description

Who created God?
How old is God?
How big is God?
How close are we to being like God?
Is God ever moody?
How strong is God?
How much does God know?
Where can God be found?
Who is in control?
How does God put up with sinners?
What does God think of sin?
Is God always fair?
Does God help only those who help themselves?
Does God help those who are in need?
Does God give us what we deserve?
Does God give till it hurts?

The answers to these and other questions about God can be found in this study of the attributes of God. Some of God's attributes belong to Him alone (such as eternal, infinite, and all-powerful). Others of God's attributes-His moral attributes (such as longsuffering, goodness, and love)-are to be expressed by His children as well. For each of these moral attributes of God the reader of this book is challenged by the Scriptures to be "followers [or imitators] of God, as dear children" (Ephesians 5:1).
